

FAMILY HIGHLIGHTS

'I-Witness': A 4-D Time Travel Adventure

● Level 1

Prepare to shake, rattle and roll through some of the most dramatic events in journalism history in this 3-D film with special effects.

Hank Greenspun Terrace on Pennsylvania Ave.

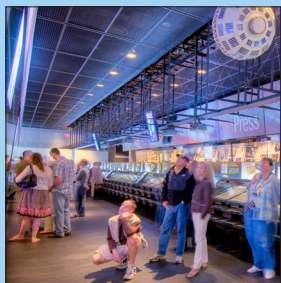

● Level 6

Enjoy a great view of the U.S. Capitol and Pennsylvania Avenue and learn about the history of "America's Main Street."

News Corporation News History Gallery ● Level 5

See original newspaper front pages showcasing some of the most famous headlines in history, from the 1500s through today.

Play the "Make a Match" game at a touch-screen kiosk.

First Dogs

● Level 2

See some of the top dogs who have resided with the president at the nation's most prestigious address.

NEWSEUM Be There.

555 Pennsylvania Ave., N.W. Washington, DC 20001 | newseum.org

Cox Enterprises First Amendment Gallery

● Level 4

See a protest armband worn by student Mary Beth Tinker that led to a landmark Supreme Court case on free speech.

Learn Bart Simpson's thoughts on the First Amendment.

Time Warner World News Gallery ● Level 3

See a large color-coded map showing the state of press freedom around the world, plus interactive kiosks with details on every country.

Use touch-screen stations to explore international newspaper front pages and watch excerpts from news broadcasts.

NBC News Interactive Newsroom ● Level 2

Record your own newscast, complete with cameras and teleprompters, at the "Be a TV Reporter" station.

Try your hand as a photojournalist or reporter, or test your knowledge of current events at dozens of touch-screen game stations.

Berlin Wall Gallery ● Concourse Level

See eight sections of the original Berlin Wall.

Go inside a three-story East German guard tower.

PARENTS: You may want to preview content before sharing it with your children to decide what is appropriate for your family. In particular, material in the following galleries and film may be too intense for young children and some visitors: G-Men and Journalists (Concourse Level), Pulitzer Prize Photographs (Level 1) and "Running Toward Danger" 9/11 documentary (Level 4).