FINDING HOPE IN A HUNGRY WORLD

THE PHOTOGRAPHY OF HOWARD G. BUFFETT

In this powerful exhibit featuring the photography of Howard G. Buffett, 40 photographs document the world hunger crisis as part of a global awareness campaign. Traveling to more than 137 countries, Buffett turned his camera lens on the powerful forces that fuel hunger and poverty.

A philanthropist and farmer, Buffett believes that each of us has about 40 chances to accomplish our life goals, just as farmers have about 40 growing seasons to improve their harvests. His photography is a call to action to find lasting solutions to the world hunger crisis.

The rental fee for this exhibit has been waived through the generous support of the Howard G. Buffett Foundation.

“Some of these extraordinary photos make you smile; some make you cry. All of them inspire you to take action against the injustice of extreme poverty.”

THE HOWARD G.
BUFFETT
FOUNDATION

The compelling photography in the exhibit illustrates the causes and effects of hunger on five continents and reflects Howard G. Buffett's belief that hunger is intertwined with poverty, fear, war and conflict, and the lack of opportunity for women.

The exhibit also includes an original Newseum film featuring Buffett and his work, and a tactile display that reveals the leading causes of death worldwide. Visitors can use a touch-screen kiosk highlighting five organizations working on solutions to world hunger and conflict to learn how they can be a part of Buffett's 40 Chances campaign.

"Photojournalism has the power to make a difference in the world by compelling us not only to look, but to act."

Cathy Trost, senior vice president of exhibits and programs, Newseum
